

Reclaimunfairbankcharges.org.uk may from time to time collect names and/or details of website visitors. This may include the mailing list, blog comments sections and in various sections of the Reclaimunfairbankcharges.org.uk internet site. These details will not be passed onto any other third party or other organisation other than those listed on the website, in this instance being Financial Recovery Solutions unless we are required to by government or other law enforcement authority.

If you contribute content, such as discussion comments, to the site, your contribution may be publicly displayed including personally identifiable information.

Reclaimunfairbankcharges.org.uk sometimes links to independently run web sites outside of the Reclaimunfairbankcharges.org.uk uk domain. We take no responsibility for the privacy practices or content of such web sites.

Reclaimunfairbankcharges.org.uk uses cookies to save login details and to collect statistical information about the numbers of visitors to the site.

Reclaimunfairbankcharges.org.uk is suitable for all ages, but not knowingly may collect personal information from children under 13 years old.

This policy will be updated from time to time. If we make significant changes to this policy after that time a notice will be posted on the main pages of the website.